

Comments from Firefighters.

Here's what people who have used a vertical rescue system from DEUS have to say.

"When you need to bail out, you don't have a lot of time to think and it's easy to make mistakes. This will save lives because it's simple and panic-proof."

"The ease-of-use is great – just turn the knob to control the speed. Or, use it hands-free and speed is limited to about 9 feet per second for a soft landing."

"It has four independent brakes in it – quadruple redundancy, I like the extra sense of confidence and safety in an emergency."

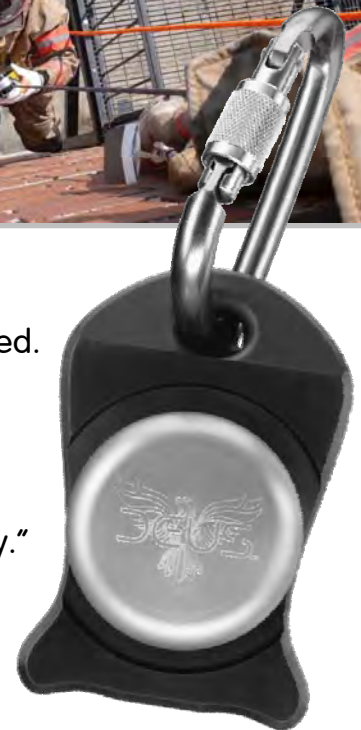

"This thing is built firefighter-tough. We beat the crap out of our equipment and this is really built for firefighters."

"Light weight; small; functional; very easy to use. With this, you can get three people down from a fourth floor window in less than a minute."

"This is fun to train with. Very smooth. Once it's anchored and hooked to my harness, it gives me complete freedom to just get out as fast as I can because I don't have to hold on to it. Let's go again, and go higher!"

"The DEUS fire rope is amazing – fire-, cut-, abrasion- and chemical-resistant. And the training rope makes training economical."

The DEUS™ 3100 vertical rescue system is a revolutionary descent and rescue device. It features a tiny size, ultra-cool design and endless features. Plus, it's built with quadruple redundant braking systems for complete confidence and safety. DEUS rescue systems are used only with DEUS™ Fire and Training Ropes produced by Sterling Rope.

When lives are on the line, trust DEUS Rescue.
